GENERAL INFORMATION

- The Siracusa International Institute for Criminal Justice and Human Rights will organize the 20th Specialization Course in International Criminal Law for Young Penalists on ‘Human Rights, Criminal Justice and International Law’ exclusively online, due to the Covid-19 pandemic. The 2021 ICL course will commence on Monday, July 5, and conclude on Friday, July 9. On Monday, July 12 and Tuesday, July 13, there will be an examination of participants who are interested in receiving the Diploma of the Siracusa International Institute.
- The course will consist of 16 daily sessions spread over five days, for a total of 29 online contact hours. The sessions will be programmed approximately between h. 13 and 19.30, CET. The daily sessions will consist of keynote lectures, panel discussions and small-group exercises, which aim to stimulate interaction among participants.
- Each daily session will be broadcast live on a dedicated digital platform at the Italian local time indicated in the agenda. In addition, for one week after the broadcast, participants will have access to video recordings of all sessions.
- In advance of the course, all registered participants will have access to an online platform, from which the faculty’s recommended course readings and other relevant documents can be downloaded. This will help to ensure that participants get the most value out of the course’s live sessions. Each participant will have their own personal profile for accessing these materials. PowerPoint presentations and other course resources will be added to the platform at the beginning or end of each session.
- Participants who want to receive the Diploma of the Siracusa International Institute will have to take an online examination once the course is completed. The examination will have a written and an oral component. Successful participants will be among the Institute’s graduates and eligible for a prize to be awarded to the person who achieves the best examination result, and two runners-up. The prize-winner will be acknowledged on the Institute’s website, and receive a certificate, and two books from the Course Director and the Institute, respectively. Participants who choose not to take the final examination will receive a certification of participation only.
- Attendance is required at all live sessions. Failure to attend more than one live session will disqualify participants from receiving the certification of participation or the Diploma. Watching the recorded video of the sessions will not qualify participants for attendance.

ELIGIBILITY

- The course targets mainly recent law graduates, practitioners, academics and students from across the globe, who are pursuing higher education or careers in the fields of international criminal law and international relations.
- To be eligible for the course, participants should have a university degree in law, or have otherwise conducted some studies in law. A legal background is indispensable for participants to properly follow and benefit from the course.
- Being a course for young penalists, participants should be 35 years of age or under.
- A limited number of auditors, who do not fulfil the eligibility criteria, might be accepted into the course and eligible to receive a certification of participation in this capacity.
- The working language will be English, therefore proficiency in English is required for both regular participants and auditors.

REGISTRATION COSTS & SCHOLARSHIPS

- The registration for the course is open to all interested applicants. The application form should be filled out online at the Institute's website: <http://www.siracusainstitute.org/app/international-criminal-law/>. The application deadline is May 30, 2021.
- For participants who intend to sit the examination and receive the Diploma of the Siracusa International Institute, the course's registration cost is € 500. For other participants and auditors, the registration cost is € 300. The registration cost should be paid by wire transfer.
- The Institute will offer a limited number of scholarships to applicants from developing and less developed countries. If awarded a scholarship, participants will be required to pay a reduced registration cost of € 50.
- All participants, including auditors and scholarship recipients, are required to join the International Association of Penal Law (AIDP) as Young Penalists (€ 45). Membership information can be found on the AIDP website (www.penal.org).
- All registered participants will receive an acceptance letter in due course, with further information on technical details, methods of payment and relevant deadlines.

CANCELLATION POLICY

- If a registered participant cancels his/her participation, the registration cost cannot be refunded.
- However, given the current exceptional circumstances, if a registered participant cannot attend the course due to contracting Covid-19, the Institute will consider a full refund on presentation of a certified medical certificate.

If you have any questions, please contact the Siracusa Institute at icl-course@siracusainstitute.org.
